Descripción general de la ayuda, Candidatos y Propuestas
CURE seeks to promote the careers of young investigators to allow them to develop a research focus independent of their mentor(s). Researchers may propose basic or clinical studies, but this award mechanism is not intended to support clinical trials. Research that involves collaboration and a multidisciplinary approach is desirable. Applicant will be required to discuss how this avenue of research is independent from his or her mentor's research, and will lead him or her to a path of independent epilepsy research. We encourage studies that will provide new directions for epilepsy therapy, prevention and, ultimately, a cure and that will allow applicants to collect the data necessary to support a National Institutes of Health grant application. 2017 Priority areas <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Transformative research to enhance our understanding of the cellular, molecular, genetic and systems-level mechanisms that lead to any of the epilepsies, facilitating the continued investigation of disease-modifying or preventative strategies • Innovative approaches that can prevent, modify and/or arrest the development of acquired epilepsy after stroke, tumor, viral infection, etc. • Research that will inform the development of novel therapies to prevent onset or halt the progression of the severe pediatric epilepsies • Research focused on new, effective treatments for the >30% of the epilepsy population who are pharmaco-resistant • Novel research that furthers our understanding of the causes and ultimate elimination of SUDEP.
